As a overview, you create fee items, which are the individual things you will be charging members for. These are then added to a fee package, which allows you to group together items. Finally the fee package is assigned to the relevant members of your club. The list is divided into these three sections (tabs) - fee items, fee packages and fee labels.

Fee Items

 1. When adding a new fee item you will need to follow the below steps:

Fee Packages

The fee package groups the items together. For example, a member may have a membership fee and a club shirt fee, which all financial members are required to pay. These would be grouped together in the fee package.

1. Adding a fee package.
 1. When adding a new fee package you will need to follow the below steps:
 2. Click on the "Add Fee Package" button at the top right-hand corner.

 4. Once done you will be prompted to add the following details to complete the fee package setup:
 1. Package Name - Give the fee package you are creating a name that is relevant and that will be understood by your members.
 2. Description - Give more specific details what this fee package is for to help your members understand what it relates to and what it covers.
 3. Billing Cycle - You need to set the billing cycle for this fee package so the system knows when to charge a member.
 - 4.

Once a fee package has been added, you can configure it to use it with members. The key action is adding fee items to the package.

1. Adding fees to a package

 3. When you select add fee item, the manage fees section will open. You can select a fee from the assign fees drop down menu, and assign it to the package. This can be done multiple times, to add a number of fee items as required. Once you have finished, click on the X to close the window.
 - 4.
2. Managing Fee Packages
 1. Now that the fees have been added to the package, you will be back on the fee package screen. There are options here to help you manage packages:
